SURF AIR BEGINS DAILY SERVICE TO MONTEREY JULY 13

(Monterey, Calif.) –July 13, 2015 – Surf Air, the nation’s first All-You-Can-Fly private membership airline, announced it will begin daily service from Monterey, CA (MRY) to the Los Angeles basin and the Bay Area starting on July 13th. The company will be providing effortless travel to top California destinations through the private terminal of Del Monte Aviation— Monterey’s finest full service executive Air Terminal.

“Monterey was among the most requested markets by our existing membership for its business access, golfing and leisure activities,” said CEO of Surf Air, Jeff Potter. “We have many members who live in the area and commute regularly to San Francisco and LA so our unlimited service is ideal for their lifestyle.”

Surf Air will offer two daily non-stops from Monterey to LA’s Hawthorne Airport (HHR), and two daily non-stops to the Bay Area’s San Carlos Airport (KSQL) with a total of 23 flights weekly. The inaugural flight will depart at 7am PT from Monterey, bound for San Carlos with the first flight returning to the Monterey Jet Center at 9am PT. Surf Air will operate out of Monterey Jet Center at Del Monte Aviation, which is located just three miles southeast of the City of Monterey and is accessible to and from Carmel, the Salinas Valley, and Big Sur areas, all of which have been historically underserved by air travel.

Surf Air hosted a launch event on Thursday, July 9th at Del Monte Aviation to celebrate the start of service and welcome area members and prospects. Attendees were able to tour Surf Air’s PC-12 aircraft and enjoy entertainment, food and wine.

With the new service to Monterey, Surf Air now serves eight markets with 70 daily flights throughout California.
